

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

A. Conclusion

Based on the previous discussion, it arrives at conclusion that the legal consequences of the Constitutional Court Decision No.88/PUU-XIV/2016 toward the succession of the Governor of Yogyakarta Special Region are; first, with the nullification of Article 18 Paragraph 1 (m) of Law No. 13 of 2012 on the Privileges of DIY, it can cause the fundamental changes in Paugeran. One of the fundamental changes is it gives the Sultan opportunity to be occupied by a woman (the daughter of Sultan) which means that the Sultan is not necessarily a man. Second, it can give woman a chance to become the Governor and also become the Sultan of Yogyakarta at the same time. It is because in the Law No. 13 of 2012 on the Privileges of DIY, it does not require the candidate of the Governor of Yogyakarta must be a man. Third, the decision of the Constitutional Court may cause conflict in internal Palace because there are different views among Palace families. Some of the Palace family hold on the Paugeran where Sultan must be a man, but the other Palace family argued that woman also can be the Governor or Sultan in DIY.

B. Suggestions

This suggestion is addressed to the DPR and the President. The research suggest that the position of Sultan Hamengku Buwono as the King of Yogyakarta Palace should be separated with the position of the Governor as the Head of the Province. The King or Sultan is a position that can be inherited, while the Governor is a position that should belong to people and can not be inherited. In the filling position of Sultan Hamengku Buwono and Paku Alam, it becomes the authority of Yogyakarta Palace and determined by the law that is applicable in the Sultanate and Kadipaten. But, the filling position of the Governor and the Vice Governor of Yogyakarta are elected directly by the people of Yogyakarta through the election mechanism. If the determination of the Sultan as the Governor and Paku Alam as the Vice Governor is still implemented, it will cause some problems, especially in the internal of the Palace.
