

The Governance of Disaster Diplomacy in Indonesia and Malaysia

Universitas Muhammadiyah Yogyakarta | Surwandono (0502057101) & M. Zahrul Anam (0516067501)

Abstract

This research aims to produce portfolio concerning the management of disaster diplomacy for international cooperation between Indonesia and Malaysia. The research has been performed through the following activities; analyzing the legal documents of the government of Indonesia and Malaysia, investigating the social construction of the law on disaster with framing analysis, creating evaluation roadmap for the disaster management systems that have been carried out by both countries, performing experimental simulation of the disaster management system, and disseminating the research findings on reputable journals and international conferences.

The data analysis uses content and framing analysis towards the use of specific words (signs). The signs were determined based on their level, context, setting, and roadmap of how the legal documents have been formulated.

The advantages of collaborative research between Universitas Muhammadiyah Yogyakarta, Indonesia, and International Islamic University of Malaysia are;

- 1) Both institutions have the opportunity to develop non-traditional security studies.
