

CHAPTER THREE

RESEARCH METHOD

A. Type of Research

The researcher uses normative legal research to answer the problem statement, which means that the research will show how the law regulates such condition and how the application of law itself.¹ Normative legal research is used to find the truth of coherence, namely discovering whether the existing law is in conformity with the rule of law, whether the norms in the form of a command or prohibition is in line with the principles of law and whether one's actions are in accordance with the norms of law or legal principles.²

B. Type of Data

The data used in the secondary research data consisting of primary legal materials, secondary legal materials, and tertiary legal materials. The detail data are explained as follows³:

1. Primary legal material consists of regulations as follows:
 - a. Convention on for the Protection of Human Rights
 - b. International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights
 - c. United Nation Charter 1945
 - d. Universal Declaration of Human Rights
 - e. Vienna Convention on Diplomatic Relations 1961

¹ Ronny Soemitro Hanitijo, 1990, Metodologi Penelitian Hukum dan Jurimetri, Jakarta: Ghalia Indonesia. p. 10.

² Peter Mahmud Marzuki, 2013, Penelitian Hukum Edisi Revisi, Jakarta: Kharisma Putra Utama. p. 47.

³ Bahder Johan Nasution, 2008, Metode Penelitian Ilmu Hukum, ISBN 979-583-335-3, Bandung, CV Mandar Maju, p. 86.

f. Vienna Convention on Consular Relations 1963

2. The secondary legal material consist of several documents that related to the primary legal materials as follows:

a. Books;

b. Research Report;

c. Scientific journals;

d. Trusted sites internet;

e. Other legal documents related to the issue;

f. Other non-legal documents related to the issue.

3. Tertiary legal materials

The tertiary legal material is a material, which supports the research. It covers the legal materials that provide instructions or explanations of primary and secondary legal materials from the outside the field of law, e.g., the field of politics, sociology, language as supporting material or complementary such as:

a. Encyclopedia;

b. English dictionary.

C. Method of Collecting Data

The method of collecting data in this research was done through library research. This method collects the data from reading, writing, analyzing, and gathering information related to the topic of this thesis. After having information from the documents such as international and national legal instrument, book, journal, and others related to the main problem as the main of this research, the author ultimately tries to create a conclusion.

D. Method of Data Analysis

The data will be analyzed systematically through juridical qualitative. Systematically means the research will be analyzed based on international law, focusing on How International Law Works for the Khashoggi Assassination Case. Juridical qualitative means it would relate to the principle of law, convention, and other related regulations.